This latest entry in the FIFA series — currently in development at EA Sports — reflects the ongoing evolution of the sport, capturing the most interesting aspects of the world's game, resulting in an immersive football experience. FIFA's top players are more than just sports professionals; they are athletes, and they play at a very high intensity. Having a powerful match engine requires a real-world simulation, which is why FIFA uses motion capture data from elite athletes playing a high-intensity match while wearing multi-camera motion-capture suits. The technology benefits from the huge volume of data collected, enabling the intelligent behavior in every player and the evaluation of different strategies in full-scale football matches. FIFA 22's all-new game engine, "Verstärk-Engine," pushes the limits of what is possible in video games to bring next generation innovations to console FIFA video games. This engine is more complex than the "Jam-Engine" used in previous iterations of FIFA. "Verstärk-Engine" makes the most of every aspect of the PS4's technology and controller, with new and innovative new features. This is a true platform-defining engine, allowing for next generation innovations never seen in console football games. PlayStation 4 Pro The PlayStation 4 Pro will be able to take advantage of this engine to ensure a dramatically enhanced gameplay experience. The PlayStation 4 Pro will deliver a richer gameplay experience, with better graphics and smoother controls with faster access to tools and performance features. The enhancements will combine the power of the PlayStation 4 Pro with the "Verstärk-Engine," allowing players to experience gameplay that is like nothing seen in console football games. FIFA 22 will support HDR on the PlayStation 4 Pro. The PS4 Pro will also support the immersive audio experience and data-packed images that lead to better, richer gameplay. FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion Technology," which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. This latest entry in the FIFA series — currently in development at EA Sports — reflects the ongoing evolution of the sport, capturing the most interesting aspects of the world's game, resulting

The most authentic and connected football experience ever combines with a new season of innovation across every mode. What's New Routes New Routes revolutionises how you plan your attack. A new set of progressive routes will force your opponents into a reactive posture, favouring your passing vision over their defending one. Dribbling Bring your dribbling skills to new heights and push your opponents out of their own half. The strongest dribblers are able to break through multiple layers of defence and drive into the final third. Direct Freekicks Confront your opponent with an aerial challenge that sends them airborne, or take direct free kicks from set pieces, tackles and throw-ins to take advantage of their mispositioning. New Attacking System New attacking options provide greater freedom to create and attack more effectively. Use skill moves to keep the ball under control or let go of the ball early for a first-time shot. Press Attack Dodging and cutting out, overloading or isolating - the pressing options are now yours. Press to open up spaces to release the ball into one of your players, get into position to be the first to intercept the ball or press to deny space and so deny your opponent the ability to progress the attack. Defense Recognising run-off angles and approaching the ball from unpredictable positions, defenders are given greater responsibility for their positioning and can now also choose to intercept passes directly. Tackle Defenders now have greater access to the ball and can instigate more dynamic and unpredictable challenges. Picking up the ball on the ground or in the air, defenders can tackle to win the ball back or struggle to retain possession. New Player Traits Physique The new Sprint and Aerobic player traits enable you to have a more complete and attacking game. Use Sprint to create space in key areas of the pitch and Aerobic to shape the match and deliver key passes. Intelligence A combination of Speed and Strength, be more intelligent in your runs and you can surprise your opponents with a sudden jink, dodge or even a change of direction.
