What is tea made of? Cantina Mix Extra 12oz. This invention relates to a method of making a color filtering mask which is useful in a liquid crystal display apparatus, and more particularly to a method of making a color filtering mask which filters out unnecessary colors and prevents a liquid crystal display from having a color shift or ghosting. A conventional liquid crystal display apparatus comprises a liquid crystal display panel having a color filter on the inner surface of the panel for producing light of a selected color, an optical system having a polarized light separating element and an optical system lens for projecting light of a selected color which has been transmitted through the polarized light separating element and the liquid crystal panel onto a screen, and a color filter (such as those described in U.S. Pat. Nos. 4,078,972 and 4,198,346, etc.) for filtering out unnecessary light components, such as light in the blue wavelength region which does not contribute to color expression. The conventional liquid crystal display apparatus has, however, a problem that the brightness of the displayed image is lower than that of a CRT display apparatus. The color filter used in the conventional liquid crystal display apparatus is a black and white filter which filters out only light of a selected color and transmits other unnecessary light. Accordingly, in the conventional liquid crystal display apparatus, the ratio of light transmitted through the color filter is generally less than 50%, and the brightness of the displayed image is lower than that of the CRT display apparatus. In the case where a color filter is used as a liquid crystal cell, a color filter must be formed on the inner surface of a liquid crystal cell plate, and a color filter of a liquid crystal cell of a black and white type is not free of the problem of a color shift or a ghosting. In order to solve the problem of a color shift or ghosting, it is proposed to use a color filter of a striped color filter having the striped color pattern as shown in FIG. 1. FIG. 1 shows a color filter cell of the type in which a colored light absorption layer is formed on one of two glass substrates. This type of color filter cell comprises a transparent substrate 1 and a colored light absorption layer 2 formed on a transparent substrate 1. The color filter cell further comprises a pair of sealing members 3 for sealing together the substrates 1 and 2 and a filter substrate 5 placed therebetween. The colored light absorption layer 2 has a striped color pattern in which three primary colors, red, green
