HD Online Player (The Lost Room Complete Miniseries 7) [UPDATED]

They know how long healthy rats take on average to complete a simple maze. So researchers will test this idea of what new rats are like. Scientists from the Australian National Institute for Scientific Research found that the rats they selected for the experiment spent about 60 minutes in the maze to discover hidden traps. And this is longer than for other rodents. Researchers believe that their data can help in research related to optimizing the use of environmental resources, for example, in forests.
